

DEATH COMES TO AGED HUGH M'LAUGHLIN

After Game of Dominoes with Veteran Firemen He Attends Theatre, Returns Home and Suddenly Succumbs.

WARNING OF END CAME IN GREAT SLEEPINESS.

"I Feel Tired," He Said, "but Am Very Well"—Sketch of a Busy Career in Which He Won Fame and Power in Politics.

HUGH M'LAUGHLIN

Hugh McLaughlin, "Sage of Willoughby street" and Democratic boss of Kings County, is dead.

Death came without warning, save a tired feeling that came to the veteran politician after an evening at the theatre and a day spent with friends. Mr. McLaughlin began showing his age so that it was remarked upon by his family and friends on Sunday last when he was entertaining some guests at his home. The guests were surprised when suddenly the old man ceased laughing and fell asleep. He was awakened, but several times during the evening ceased talking and slept.

The next day Mr. McLaughlin's wife noticed a queer drooping at the right corner of his mouth, but he said he was feeling well. He seemed especially well yesterday and during the morning walked to St. James's Pro-Cathedral, in Jay street, where he was visiting a hand-some altar. In the afternoon he was with friends playing dominoes in the rooms of the Veteran Firemen's Association in the Borough Hall.

"I'm Tired," He Said. So well was he feeling last night that in company with his nephew, Thomas McNeely, he went to Hyde & Behman's Theatre. During the performance he laughed constantly and was in the best of spirits when he started for home. No. 141 Remsen street. On the way he said he was a trifle tired, but remarked, "I will be all right to-morrow."

He got home a few minutes before 11 o'clock and greeted his wife and two daughters, Mrs. J. A. Roche and Mrs. William Courtney and his niece, Mrs. Mary Waldron.

Seated on the side of his bed he was waiting for a servant to prepare a tub of water for his foot bath. He complained of feeling very tired. Suddenly his face paled and he fell back on the bed. Quickly his wife, two daughters and niece were called to him.

Dr. Joseph Keane, No. 64 Greene avenue, and Dr. Wunderlich, the McLaughlin's next door neighbor, were summoned and exhausted their skill in the attempt to revive him. But he sank quickly and in twenty minutes expired. Hugh McLaughlin celebrated his seventy-sixth birthday on April 2 last.

HUNT FOR BONDSMEN.

Mrs. Noble's Attorney and Sister Hope to Secure Her Release Soon.

Efforts to secure bondsmen for Mrs. Josephine L. Noble, who is in the County Jail in Long Island City on the charge of having caused the death of her husband, Paton Noble, were renewed to-day.

Mr. Shibley, representing Mr. Le Barre, counsel for Mrs. Noble, and Miss Eleanor Leighton, her sister, went to Astoria, where, it is said, they hoped to find two men who were willing and able to qualify as bondsmen. Mrs. Noble is required by Supreme Court Justice Martin J. Keogh to give bail in $5,000 and two securities are demanded, each of whom must qualify in double the amount of the bail.

DODGE TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

Man Wanted in New York in Connection with Dodge-Morse Divorce Case is Arrested at Houston, Tex.

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 8.—Charles F. Dodge, wanted in New York in connection with the Dodge-Morse case, is in the custody of the United States authorities and is being guarded by United States marshals.

Local counsel, formerly employed by Howe & Hummel, of New York, to defend Dodge, have withdrawn from the case. Those attorneys, ex-Congressman Ball, Frank Andrews, Sterling Meyer and W. H. Huat, determined on this step after a conference, at which it was decided to have no further connection with Dodge. The mandate from the United States Court will probably be served to-day or to-morrow.

Agents for Dodge have employed J. B. Brockman, a criminal attorney of local reputation, to investigate the technical points that may be at issue and upon which there might be a chance to keep Dodge in Texas. Mr. Meyer, one of Dodge's former counsel, admitted
